

PROGRAM ON INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL SYSTEMS

The mission of the Program on International Financial Systems (PIFS) is to enhance the role of regulation in building the global financial system of the 21st century. Harvard Law School is PIFS' partner on its training programs for regulators and a non-financial sponsor of PIFS' international symposia and special events.

SYMPOSIA

PIFS hosts three annual international symposia that each bring together over 100 senior policymakers, business leaders and academics for two-and-a-half-days of private discussions.

- U.S.-Japan (22 years)*
- U.S.-Europe (18 years)*
- U.S.-China (16 years)*

TRAINING & DEVELOPMENT SEMINARS

PIFS delivers annual training programs and policy development seminars for regulators.

- International Organization of Securities Commissions*
- China Securities Regulatory Commission*
- Japan Financial Services Authority*
- Kuwait Capital Market Authority*

LECTURE SERIES

PIFS hosts the Fidelity Lecture Series for students and faculty at Harvard University.

- U.S. Senator Richard Shelby*
- U.S. SEC Chairman Jay Clayton*
- James Gorman, CEO of Morgan Stanley*

RESEARCH

- Overview of Bank Stress Test Regimes (2018)*
- Cloud Computing in the Financial Sector (2019)*
- International Review of Equity Market Structure (2019)*

SPECIAL EVENTS

PIFS hosts private roundtables focused on policy issues confronting the global financial system.

- Resolving and Stress Testing Global Banking Institutions, ECB, 2019*
- The Rise of Passive Investing, HLS, 2019*