GLOBAL CERTIFICATE PROGRAM FOR
REGULATORS OF SECURITIES MARKETS

December 9-13, 2019
Harvard Law School, Cambridge, MA
Welcome to Harvard Law School!

The Program on International Financial Systems (PIFS) is honored to be hosting you for Phase II of the Global Certificate Program (GCP). We have created a diverse program that will be taught by prominent and experienced speakers from academia, the private-sector, and government.

Phase II serves as the culmination of your GCP educational experience. During this week, experts will teach you about critically important regulatory issues. Topics that you will be exposed to include: how capital markets can promote economic growth; how technology is transforming modern markets, including their regulation and supervision; digital securities, currencies and payments; the regulation of asset managers; cross-border regulatory coordination; the evolution and role of public and private capital markets; and promoting sustainable growth. We hope that whether these are new and emerging issues for you, or ones that you already think about deeply, you will be able to use what you learn this week to confront and address future regulatory challenges faced by your jurisdiction.

My team at PIFS is ready and eager to make your experience as enjoyable as possible. Please do not hesitate to ask them for assistance. I look forward to meeting you and thank you for choosing to join us.

Sincerely,

HAL S. SCOTT

Ray A. Cameron
Head of Investment Stewardship Team for the Americas, BlackRock

Ray A. Cameron, Managing Director, is the Head of BlackRock’s Investment Stewardship team for the Americas region based in New York. In this role, Ray leads a team of specialists responsible for engagement and proxy voting activities in relation to the companies in which BlackRock invests on behalf of clients. Through direct engagement with companies, the team encourages corporate governance practices that support sustainable financial performance over the long-term.

Prior to joining BlackRock, Ray most recently managed the corporate access engagement practice at several investment banking firms, including Stifel and Cowen. In these capacities, he oversaw teams that established and enhanced constructive dialogue with hundreds of portfolio companies’ boards and management teams.

Ray started his Wall Street career at Morgan Stanley on the institutional equity sales desk. After spending several years as a generalist, he became a technology specialist. It was in that capacity, he recognized the potential of corporate access as a stand-alone business opportunity. Ray is credited for creating and managing the first fully integrated corporate access team on Wall Street. His team included a diverse group of sector specialists who were responsible for driving engagements in their respective industries and enhancing relationships with corporate boards and management and with internal investment professionals within the firm. He was subsequently recruited to re-engineer the corporate access engagement practice at Lehman Brothers. There he successfully maintained the entire team through the Lehman bankruptcy filing and the eventual acquisition of equity assets by Barclays.
Ray earned his Masters of Business Administration degree from Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas and his Bachelors of Business Administration degree from The University of Texas at Austin.

Ana Carvajal

Cameron Funkhouser
Executive Vice President, Financial Industry Regulatory Authority

Cameron Funkhouser is Executive Vice President of FINRA’s Office of Fraud Detection and Market Intelligence, which includes the Insider Trading and Fraud Surveillance units, FINRA’s Complaint Center and FINRA’s Whistleblower program.

Mr. Funkhouser and his staff have been responsible for uncovering numerous cases of Internet fraud, insider trading, market manipulation, Ponzi schemes and other white collar misconduct, which have been successfully investigated and prosecuted by FINRA, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and other law enforcement agencies across the country and internationally.

He has been with FINRA since 1984, serving in various roles of increasing responsibility with a focus on the surveillance of securities traded on NASDAQ, New York Stock Exchange and the over-the-counter markets. Mr. Funkhouser has extensive experience conducting securities fraud investigations and is regularly called upon by civil and criminal law enforcement authorities to provide training, technical assistance, investigative/litigation strategy consulting and expert testimony.

Mr. Funkhouser received a bachelor’s degree in business from Georgetown University and his J.D. from George Mason University.

Stavros Gadinis
Professor of Law, UC Berkeley School of Law

Stavros Gadinis’ research examines questions in financial regulation and international business transactions. His work focuses on the relationship between the financial industry and government regulators. His goal is to disaggregate agency bureaucracies and study the interactions between key constituents: agency officials, political appointees, corporate litigators, and finance professionals. His latest paper examines the regulatory response to the 2007/8 financial crisis in 15 key jurisdictions, including the U.S., the U.K., France, Germany, Japan, and Switzerland. He shows that newly created powers were assigned not to independent regulators, such as central banks, but to politically controlled officials, such as treasury secretaries and finance ministers (From Independence to Politics in Financial Regulation, forthcoming CAL. L. REV. 2013).

In The SEC and the Financial Industry: Evidence from Enforcement Against Broker- Dealers, 67 BUS. LAW. 679 (2012), Gadinis examines the SEC’s enforcement efforts towards a key segment of the financial industry, investment banks and brokerage houses, in the period right before the 2007/08 financial crisis. He shows that big firms and their employees fared better than small firms and their employees in important dimensions.

In The Politics of Competition in International Financial Regulation, 49 HARV. INT’L L.J. 447 (2008), he explores why policy coordination was achieved in certain fields (international accounting standards and capital adequacy regulation) but not others (cross-border stock exchange trading and Sarbanes-Oxley auditor regulation). An earlier article, co-authored with Howell Jackson, explores the allocation of regulatory responsibilities to stock exchanges, administrative agencies and central government entities in the eight most influential jurisdictions for securities regulation in the world (Markets as Regulators, A Survey, 80 S. CAL. L. REV. 1239 (2007)).

Before entering into academia, Gadinis practiced corporate law for four years in Europe. His work spanned a wide spectrum of equity and debt transactions, ranging from cross-border mergers and acquisitions, stock offerings, and privatizations, to derivatives, securitizations, and CDOs. In addition to U.S. law, he has worked in transactions that involved the laws of many European countries. Gadinis completed his S.J.D. at Harvard in May 2010. He also holds an LL.M. degree from the University of Cambridge (UK), and a law degree from Aristotle University, Greece.
Stefan M. Gavell
Vice-Chair of Executive Education, Program on International Financial Systems

Stefan Gavell has supported and been actively involved in the Program on International Financial Systems as a speaker and moderator for more than 10 years.

Prior to that, Mr. Gavell was Executive Vice President and Global Head of Regulatory, Industry and Government Affairs for State Street Corporation with responsibility for global regulatory, industry and government relations. In this position, he was responsible for representing State Street with regulators, legislators and other policymakers worldwide. Representing State Street, and in conjunction with leading industry associations, Mr. Gavell successfully advocated on legislative and regulatory issues, in the US, Europe, and Asia, on banking, securities and asset management matters.

Mr. Gavell has deep experience in financial markets, market regulation and governance as a result of his close to 40 year career and held numerous positions at State Street, including as Treasurer, acting CFO, and Head of International Global Markets, and held expatriate assignments in Hong Kong, Japan, the UK and France. He previously held positions as President of State Street International Holdings, and on the Board of State Street Global Markets, LLC. He served on numerous governance committees including management, financial policy, asset and liability, compliance and conduct, and numerous bank, investment management, and securities subsidiary boards.

Mr. Gavell is a member of numerous professional bodies, including long tenure as President of the American Bankers Association Securities Association. He currently serves on the board of the Global Financial Markets Association, and is a frequent speaker on banking and financial markets topics at conferences and seminars.

Stefan received his B.A. in Economics and Government from Oberlin College and his M.B.A. from Columbia University.

Kurt Gresenz
Senior Assistant Director, Office of International Affairs, U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission

Kurt Gresenz is the Senior Assistant Director in the Office of International Affairs (OIA) of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), where he oversees the SEC’s international enforcement assistance and cooperation program, and the related international enforcement policy portfolio. In this role, he and his staff assist the SEC’s Enforcement Division in connection with investigations and enforcement actions that cross outside the borders of the U.S., and also liaise with foreign securities, regulatory, and law enforcement authorities in connection with their securities enforcement matters involving the U.S.

Kurt is active in a variety of policy and practice areas related to international securities enforcement and related cross border cooperation. He is the Co-Chair of the SEC’s Cross Border Working Group, a proactive intra-agency effort focused on (i) developing new initiatives to combat cross border securities fraud and (ii) enhancing best practices for investigating and prosecuting these cases. Kurt represents the SEC on two committees — the Screening Group and Committee 4 — of the International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO), which is headquartered in Spain. He is also one of the SEC members of the IOSCO Board’s Data Privacy Sub-Group that negotiated and drafted the first Administrative Arrangement (AA) under the European General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).
Kurt received his undergraduate degree from Duke University in 1986, and his law degree from the University of Texas in 1989. He joined the SEC’s Enforcement Division in in 2000, and joined OIA in 2008. While at the SEC, Kurt has received several awards for his investigations and enforcement activities, including the Chairman’s Award for Excellence in 2008, 2004 and 2002; and Division of Enforcement Director’s Awards in 2009, 2007, and 2001. He also received an award from the Director of the FBI for his work on the Enron investigation. In 2011, Kurt received the SEC’s Business Operations Award, for his participation in the Working Group responsible for redesigning and implementing the SEC’s new Tips, Complaints, and Referrals program in response to the Madoff matter. Kurt has also won the SEC’s International Award twice: in 2019, for his work on the GDPR and AA; and in 2015, related to a successful litigation outcome involving a non-cooperative jurisdiction.

Kurt is a frequent speaker on various international securities enforcement topics, both in the U.S. and abroad. Through programs led by the SEC, IOSCO, the IMF, and other U.S. federal agencies, he provides technical assistance to foreign jurisdictions concerning, among other topics, (i) the process and substance of complex securities investigations and prosecutions, (ii) international best practices for enforcement cooperation and information sharing in securities enforcement matters, and (iii) expertise and advice concerning related legislative amendments and reform. In connection with these initiatives, he has led and participated in programs and projects in Argentina, Canada, China, Mexico, Guatemala, Panama, Colombia, the Bahamas, Liechtenstein, Cape Verde, South Africa, Mauritius, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Bahrain, Pakistan, Barbados, Trinidad & Tobago, Jamaica, the United Kingdom, Taiwan, Spain, Malta, the Isle of Jersey, the Dominican Republic, and Vietnam.

Francis Gross
Senior Advisor, European Central Bank

Francis Gross is Senior Adviser in the Directorate General Statistics of the European Central Bank. His interests include developing vision and strategy for overcoming the dual disruption of rapid globalization and digitization, as well as designing and driving the implementation of concrete, feasible measures with transformational power to ultimately deliver measurement tools effective at the scale and speed of today’s finance, especially in a crisis. The underlying strategic credo to achieve that goal is that authorities and the private sector must work together to make the world more measurable by building global data standards and data infrastructures.

His immediate focus is on the “real world - data world” interface, primarily object identification. He serves on the Regulatory Oversight Committee of the Global LEI System (GLEIS) and has been instrumental in the emergence and development of the GLEIS.

Prior to the ECB, Francis spent fifteen years in the automotive industry, eight of which at Mercedes, working mainly on globalisation, strategic alliances and business development.

He holds an engineering degree from École Centrale des Arts et Manufactures, Paris, and an MBA from Henley Management College, UK.
Keith Higgins
Chair, Securities & Governance Practice, Ropes & Gray LLP

Keith Higgins is a member of Ropes & Gray’s corporate department and chair of the securities & governance practice.

Keith rejoined the firm in 2017, after having served as Director of Corporation Finance at the U. S. Securities & Exchange Commission since 2013. While in that role, Keith led the Division’s implementation of significant rulemaking under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act (JOBS Act), and Fixing America’s Surface Transportation Act (FAST Act). He also led the Division’s Disclosure Effectiveness project and oversaw the issuance of significant interpretive guidance to companies and investors under the federal securities laws.

Prior to serving at the SEC, Keith had for more than 30 years been counseling public companies in securities offerings, mergers and acquisitions, compliance and corporate governance. Keith advises companies, their boards, and investors on matters with the SEC, including disclosure and financial statements, no-action letters, as well as SEC enforcement actions and related internal investigations.

While in private practice, Keith was recognized by Chambers, Best Lawyers, and other publications as a leading corporate and M&A lawyer in Massachusetts and nationwide.

Howell E. Jackson

Timothy Massad
*Former Chairman, U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission
Senior Fellow, Mossavar-Rahmani Center for Business and Government, Harvard Kennedy School*

Timothy Massad is currently a Senior Fellow at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and an Adjunct Professor of Law at Georgetown Law School. Mr. Massad served as Chairman of the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission from 2014-2017. Under his leadership, the agency implemented the Dodd Frank reforms of the over-the-counter swaps market and harmonized many aspects of cross-border regulation, including reaching a landmark agreement with the European Union on clearinghouse oversight. The agency also declared virtual currencies to be commodities, introduced reforms to address automated trading and strengthened cybersecurity protections. Previously, Mr. Massad served as the Assistant Secretary for Financial Stability of the U.S. Department of the Treasury. In that capacity, he oversaw the Troubled Asset Relief Program (TARP), the principal U.S. governmental response to the 2008 financial crisis. During his tenure, Treasury recovered more on all the crisis investments than was disbursed. Mr. Massad was with the Treasury from 2009 to 2014 and also served as a counselor to the Treasury Secretary.

Prior to his government service, Mr. Massad was a partner in the law firm of Cravath, Swaine & Moore, LLP. His practice included corporate finance, derivatives and advising boards of directors. He managed the firm’s Hong Kong office from 1998 to 2002 and represented governments and corporations on transactions throughout Asia. Mr. Massad was also one of a small group of lawyers who drafted the original ISDA standard agreements for swaps.

Martin Moloney
Director General, Jersey Financial Services Commission

Martin Moloney joins the Jersey Financial Services Commission (JFSC) in February 2019 as Director General.

Prior to joining the JFSC, Martin worked as Special Adviser on Risk and Regulation to the Central Bank of Ireland (CBI), where he served for 16 years, previously heading up the Markets Policy, Markets Supervision, and Legal and Finance Divisions respectively.
Martin is a member of the Board of the International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) and he is an alternate member of the European Securities and Markets Authority (ESMA), as well as Chair of the latter’s Investment Management Standing Committee. He has been Chair of the European Systemic Risk Board’s Expert Group on Investment Funds and has represented Ireland on the EU Committee of Securities Regulators.

Martin has a strong appreciation of financial regulation. He had a leading role within the CBI in formulating policy for AIFMD, EMIR, and MiFID II and led the development of supervisory processes in relation to the Prospectus Directive and the Market Abuse directive. Prior to moving into securities regulation, Martin led the initial implementation of the Irish administrative sanctions enforcement regime and the regulatory levy system and had responsibilities with regard to anti-money laundering.

Martin’s experience is primarily across funds, investment/asset management and as part of the management team of the Irish integrated regulator within the CBI, where he developed regulatory experience in relation to banking regulation and insurance regulation. His recent experience includes matters relating to post-Brexit authorisations. In his Special Adviser role, Martin took a keen interest in the CBI’s approach to Fintech and innovation, which led to the establishment of an innovation hub in the CBI.

Prior to joining the CBI, Martin worked for brief periods in the Department of Justice and the Irish Competition Authority, and spent ten years working in the Irish Department of Finance in positions of responsibility in relation to both national and semi-State debt management and the sale of State banks.

Martin spent his early career working in Industry at Barclays Bank and the Bank of Ireland in London. Martin has an LLM in Business Law and a Masters qualification in Economic Policy, both from Trinity College Dublin. He has Postgraduate Diplomas in Arbitration, Regulatory Management and has completed professional examinations of the Chartered Institutes of Bankers and the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators.

Helpful Information

Travel

The main campus of Harvard University is located in and around Harvard Square. From the Square, Harvard Law School is a 5-minute walk to the north. Transit is provided by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, which everyone refers to as ‘the T’, identifiable by the logo on its stations, trains, and buses. The Red Line subway stops in the center of Harvard Square, with access to downtown Boston (about 20 minutes), MIT (about 10 minutes), and South Station (25 minutes). Subway fares are $2.90 to any point in the system, $12.75 for a one-day pass, and $22.50 for a seven-day pass.

The Transit app, available on the iTunes and Android stores, is endorsed by the T and provides real-time information about nearby subway and bus services, estimated fares and travel times for the Uber Pool ride-sharing service, as well as walking directions.

Flights arrive and depart Boston’s Logan International Airport to and from all parts of the world. Logan is accessible by public transportation – Silver Line bus service is free departing from the airport and connects to the Red Line at South Station. Metered taxis (prices vary) are readily available at the airport.

A bike-sharing service known as Hubway is available throughout Boston and Cambridge. Cycling is highly popular and an efficient way to travel, but please exercise caution. A daily membership ($6) can be purchased at any Hubway station. In addition to Uber and rival Lyft, several taxi companies operate in Cambridge. Note that taxi drivers often expect payment in cash. Cambridge Cab Service can be contacted at 617-547-2223 and Cambridge Taxi Cab at 617-649-7000.

Basic Needs

CVS in Harvard Square offers a limited selection of essentials. Harvard Square lacks a supermarket, so the closest option is Star Market (grocery store/supermarket) or Target (department store with more essentials) in Porter Square (Porter Square Shopping Center, 49 White St, Cambridge, MA 02140), which are adjacent to the Porter Square Red Line station (one stop ‘outbound’ from Harvard, stop is: Porter). Another option is LaVerde’s Market (convenience store with an expanded selection of items) located in the Stratton Student Center at MIT (about 10 minutes and $5 by Uber; also accessible by the T’s Number 1 bus). Another option is Target (a department store with more essentials), or HMart (grocery store/supermarket) both of which are located in Central Square (581 Massachusetts Ave, Cambridge, MA 02139; one stop ‘inbound’ from Harvard, stop is: Central).

Emergencies

For on-campus emergencies call Harvard University Police at 617-495-1212. The universal emergency number in the United States is 911; be aware that when calling from a mobile phone the call will be answered by a State Police dispatcher, who will ask for your location in order to send the appropriate responders.
Dining Out

Harvard Square offers an extensive variety of establishments for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Some of our staff’s favorites are listed here:

Darwin’s Ltd
148 Mount Auburn Street
Breakfast, Sandwiches, Baked goods
This cozy café offers a selection of named sandwiches (e.g. the ‘J.F. Kennedy’), baked goods, coffee/tea, and beer/wine (for take-away only). Breakfast is served from 7:00 – 10:30 a.m.

Flour
114 Mount Auburn Street
Breakfast, Sandwiches, Baked goods
With a similar selection to Darwin’s, this just-opened establishment can be very crowded around lunchtime, so it is helpful to phone your order in to 617-714-3205.

Clover Food Lab
1326 Massachusetts Avenue
Late night food, Breakfast, Quick Bite
A slightly different take on a coffee shop, notably for its wider selection of soups.

Cambridge 1
27 Church Street
Pizza
The Best of Boston award-winning, thin crust, charcoal-grilled pizzas are always made fresh to order. Also offers soups, salads, and pasta.

Border Cafe
32 Church Street
Mexican
The real appeal of this place is its ambience; the music selection and availability of Lone Star Beer is like a little piece of Texas in the heart of Cambridge.

Harvest
44 Brattle Street
Modern American
A fine-dining interpretation of classic New England and American staple foods.

Alden & Harlow
40 Brattle Street
Modern American
Subterranean restaurant serving creative New American fare and cocktails on tap in rustic-chic digs.

Legal Sea Foods
Charles Square, 20 University Road
Seafood
A Boston-area institution, Legal Sea Foods offers a high-quality and reasonably-priced selection of fish and shellfish, including lobster. This location is in the same complex as the Charles Hotel, which also includes Henrietta’s Table – the hotel restaurant with a varied menu – and Noir, the hotel bar.

Shake Shack
92 Winthrop Street
Hamburgers etc.
A popular chain restaurant with a menu of burgers, fries, and milkshakes reminiscent of American diners of the 1950s.

Grendel’s Den
89 Winthrop Street
Pub
Named after a monster in the Old English epic Beowulf, Grendel’s is a comfortable pub with a reasonably diverse menu.

Grafton Street Pub
1230 Massachusetts Avenue
Pub
A relaxed pub with a good selection of food and drink.

In addition to the establishments listed above, the Caspersen Student Center, located adjacent to Wasserman Hall, contains the Harkness Cafeteria (2nd floor, 7:30 a.m - 2:00 p.m) and HLS Pub (1st floor, 5:00 - 10:00 p.m.)
