Cameron Funkhouser

Former Executive Vice President of Fraud Detection and Market Intelligence at the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority

Cameron Funkhouser is the former Executive Vice President of FINRA's Office of Fraud Detection and Market Intelligence, which included the Insider Trading and Fraud Surveillance units, FINRA's Complaint Center and FINRA's Whistleblower program.

After graduating from law school in 1984, Mr. Funkhouser began his career in securities regulation in the Market Surveillance Department of FINRA. Over the next four decades, he served in various roles of increasing responsibility at FINRA with a focus on surveillance of trading activity, investigations and rule enforcement involving the securities traded on Nasdaq, the New York Stock Exchange and the over-the-counter markets. Mr. Funkhouser has extensive experience conducting securities-fraud and rule-compliance investigations and has regularly been called upon throughout his career by civil and criminal law-enforcement authorities to provide training, technical assistance, investigative/litigation strategy consulting and expert testimony.

During his extensive career at FINRA, Mr. Funkhouser and his staff were involved in thousands of enforcement actions involving compliance violations of FINRA rules and are credited with uncovering numerous cases of Internet fraud, insider trading, market manipulation, Ponzi schemes and other white-collar misconduct, which have been successfully investigated and prosecuted by FINRA, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, and other law-enforcement agencies across the country and internationally. In addition, he provided support services for the Market Watch and Listings departments of Nasdaq and the New York Stock Exchange.

Mr. Funkhouser was a top-rated speaker at FINRA conferences and SEC events; he also served as a lecturer at the FBI Training Academy. He continues to provide training as a guest lecturer at Duke University Law School and Georgetown University Graduate School of Foreign Service.

Since retiring from his post at FINRA in December 2019, Mr. Funkhouser provides advisory and consulting services to discreet clientele in the financial-services industry, as well as law firms and corporations. He also serves as an expert witness in matters involving securities-industry rules and practices.

Mr. Funkhouser received a bachelor's degree in business from Georgetown University and a Juris Doctorate from George Mason University.
